"August Flower"

"I have been afflicted with biliousness, constipation, stomach pains, and at last a friend recommended August Flower. I took it according to directions and its effects were wonderful, relieving me of those disagreeable stomach pains which I had been troubled with so long. Words cannot describe the admiration in which I hold your August Flower—it has given me a new lease of life, which before was a burden. Such a medicine is a benediction to humanity, and its good qualities and wonderful merits should be made known to everyone suffering with dyspepsia or biliousness."

A COLLEGE BOY'S PRANK.

Some Harvard Students Have Lots of Fun with Boston Policemen.

"There isn't so much devilry in private among the students today as there was a few years ago," said a graduate of Harvard, "but their pranks in public are getting bolder as time advances. I will tell you a good story illustrative of this. During my sophomore year there was a party of eight young fellows belonging to my class who were all the time looking for a chance to create a sensation. They had become involved in several little scrapes with the Boston police on account of their practical jokes, and were thirsting for revenge. One Saturday night they went to Boston, and on their arrival got shaved in a West End barber shop.

"While paying their checks an idea struck one of the fellows, and after a short conference with his companions he offered the barber $10 for his red, white and blue pole, which stood about twelve feet high in front of the door. The offer was accepted on the spot, and the young man took it away with them, insisting, however, on taking a receipt, in which both the pole and the amount paid was mentioned. Then they started off for a parade of the Third police precinct, in which nearly all their trouble with the 'coppers' had been experienced. "They had not gone far before they were stopped by one of their old blue coated foes, who demanded an explanation of their possession of the pole. The boys replied that it belonged to them and that they were taking it home. The officer, believing that they had stolen it, arrested the whole party and took them to the police station, where he charged them with the theft.

"At this juncture one of the students produced the receipt, and they were allowed to depart, much to the discomfiture of the arresting officer. Then the boys went to another policeman's beat and were soon stopped by the guardian of that precinct, and, after a short parley, which proved very unsatisfactory to the officer, the students were again arrested, and, with the pole, were marched back to the station house. This time they got their release from the lieutenant in charge without having to produce their receipt.

"The boys started off for another officer's beat, taking care to keep within the same precinct, and within less than half an hour were brought back to the station for a third time on suspicion of having stolen that pole. The lieutenant had to send an officer over the precinct with these orders to all policemen: 'If you meet a party of eight young men with a barber's pole don't arrest them. They own it.'"—New York Star.

Love Will Find a Way.

"We have many funny things to contend with," remarked a policeman near one of the ferries the other night. "A little while ago a very pretty girl of about 17 years' of age came to me and said she wanted me to arrest her father. When I arrived at the house I found a man who proved to be the girl's father on the floor, and a nicely dressed young man sitting on his breast.

"I asked what caused the trouble, when the young woman spoke up, and said her father had offered to interfere with her keeping company with the young man, and threatened to lock him out. Between them they had thrown the rebellious parent on the floor, pinioned him and then she had hurried for police protection. I told the father to get up and then put the bracelets on him. Then the daughter caught me around the neck and begged me with tears running down her cheeks not to arrest her father, and the old man said he was only in fun. I complied. Such is human nature."—Philadelphia Press.

The Young King of Servia.

King Alexander is now 14 years of age, and is rapidly developing both physically and intellectually. He is only allowed to receive such visitors as are agreeable to the regents, as the following instance will show: The Metropolitan Michael attempted lately to intrude on the royal presence without having announced his intention to the regents. The consequence was that he was not received, and since that time he has not appeared at the konak. King Alexander will come of age on Aug. 2, 1894. He is now going through a course of military studies, and his present tutor is Col. Miskovic. The king is generally present at the ordinary military drills, when he is placed in command of a company. He is also in the habit of driving out to the park of Castle Topchider, and on these drives he not infrequently passes his mother's carriage returning to town.

The queen drives herself. Her son, in the dress of a colonel, salutes her in military fashion, and the queen in recognition waves her hand. A little while ago, when King Milan was driving with his son, the two monarchs chanced to pass the queen, but on perceiving his majesty she turned away her head, and the salute was not returned. King Alexander is in constant correspondence with his father, and writes either in Serbian or French. These letters are not altogether without political significance. Queen Nathalie receives a large number of visitors, and her salons are the resort of politicians of all shades and parties. Occasionally she is present at the theatre, where she occupies the court box; but this only happens when it is known that King Alexander will not attend the play.—Galignani's Messenger.

BY TELEGRAPH!
News of Importance From Home and Abroad.

CHOOSING ELECTORS

The Legislature of Michigan passed an act providing for the election of Presidential electors by Congressional Districts, with two electors at large to be chosen by the whole State. Some of our esteemed contemporaries print articles from Eastern papers, which are calculated to convey the impression that the act of the Michigan Legislature was almost revolutionary. If those who imagine that such is the case will take the trouble to read the history of the United States it will disabuse their minds of the idea. In the early days of the Republic it was the custom for the Legislatures of the several States to appoint all the Presidential electors to which their respective States were entitled. Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina provided for the election of electors by direct vote of the people of the several Congressional Districts. As late as 1824 six of the thirteen original States adhered to the old practice of choosing electors by the Legislature. South Carolina clung to the custom until after the war, and Colorado in 1876 had its Presidential electors appointed by the Legislature of the State.

The Constitution of the United States, Article II, Section 2, says: "Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress, but no Senator or Representative, or person holding an office of profit or trust under the United States, shall be appointed an elector."

This authorizes the Legislature of a State to appoint electors, empower the Governor or anybody whom they may elect to do so, or have them elected by popular vote of the whole State or by Congressional Districts. The latter is the fairest method yet devised, as it gives the minority in States in which there are two or more Congressional districts opportunity to have a voice in the election of President of the United States. It has always been considered unjust, save by ultra partisans, to give the whole electoral vote of a State to one candidate, when that vote is secured by a small majority.

NOT NEGLECTING NEVADA.

That Senator Stewart is busy no person who knows him doubts, and that he is working for the interests of Nevada, as unceasingly as when Congress was in session, is shown in a letter from a special correspondent of the JOURNAL printed this morning. He is laboring with the Departments to extend mail facilities in Eastern Nevada; to provide for the maintenance of the Indian School at Carson, and to settle the wood question, which interfered with mining operations in several counties in the eastern part of the State. This question arose from a Government agent looking through a pair of magnifying glasses at the stunted junipers and nut pines which grow on some of the mountains in that section and dignifying them with the name of "trees" in his official report. He is also, in accordance with a resolution of the Legislature, endeavoring to have a part of the Walker Lake Indian reservation thrown open for settlement, and wrestling with the gold bugs in the Treasury Department to prevent the closing of the mint at Carson. When the Departments are closed he occupies the time in advocating the cause of silver through the public press, and answering communications on the subject, so that while his vacation is not spent in Nevada he is doing much more for the interests of the State than if he was housed up at Carson.

DIRE PREDICTIONS.

George Francis Train, always irrepressible and now irresponsible, is about to start on a second trip around the world. The people of Puget Sound pay his expenses to advertise their towns. In his farewell address to the American people he says: "I leave to escape the revolution. It will come within thirty days. I predicted the failure of Baring Brothers. I now prophesy the failure of Jay Gould. Look out everybody. National bankruptcy, war with Italy, pestilence, grippé, 'Jack the Ripper,' famine, flood and fire; I escape it all."

Train has been afflicted with a harmless form of insanity for years. His associates have been birds and children, and he will not permit man or woman to touch him. He always loved notoriety, and at one time wrote to several newspapers: "Abuse me as much as you please, but for God's sake don't forget me."

THE PRESIDENT AT OMAHA.

He Prefers the Land of the Corn Stalk. Special to the Journal.

OMAHA, May 13.—The people turned out en masse to welcome the President when he arrived here. Decorations, which were very elaborate and artistic, covered public and private buildings, and the stand where the speeches were made was covered profusely with red, white and blue. The visitors were met at the station by a large committee of citizens and were escorted by the Second Regiment, United States Infantry and the Omaha Guards to a stand at the Court-house. A salute was fired by the battery as the President appeared. The people cheered enthusiastically as the President rose to speak. He spoke of the rapid development of Omaha, a resource in Nebraska, etc. He said: "I have seen orange groves and all those fruits which enrich California. I have seen those mining camps upon peaks where men are delving into the earth to bring out the riches stored there, but I return again to the land of the corn stalk with an affection which I cannot describe. [Laughter and cheers.] I am sure those friends who delighted us with visions of loveliness and prosperity will excuse me if my birth and early training in Ohio and Indiana leads me to the conclusion that the States that raise corn are the greatest States in the world." [Cheers.] Speaking of currency the President said: "I believe the time has gone by when we will be content to return to the old system of the issue of money by State banks. But I will not discuss such questions. I only desire to say this, which is common ground upon which we can all stand, that whatever money the Government issues, paper or coin, it must be good money. [Cheers.] I have an idea that every dollar we issue should be as good as any other dollar, for whenever we have any money, paper or coin, the first errand it does is to pay some working man for a day's toil, no matter how much as the laboring man and farmer require full value of the dollar of permanent value the year around."

The Itata Not a Pirate.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—There is no longer a tenable claim that the Itata may be seized as a pirate. It is recognized that she can be recaptured for violation of the customs laws, disregard of court, and perhaps for kidnapping, but any assumption that she is a pirate is completely negated by the doctrine laid down at the time of the Columbian rebellion and Panama trouble. The Columbian Government had declared insurgent vessels to be pirates, as the Chilean Government has done, but Secretary Dayard held that the Government of the United States cannot regard as piratical, vessels manned by parties in arms against the Government of Columbia, when such vessels are passing to and from ports held by such insurgents, or when attacking ports in possession of the National Government.

In the late civil war the United States, at an early period of the struggle, surrendered the position that those manning Confederate cruisers were pirates under the international law. The United States of Columbia cannot, sooner or later, do otherwise than accept the same view. But, however this may be, no neutral power can acquiesce in the position now taken by the Columbian Government.

Another fact, which may be of interest, in view of the expected arrival of the Itata at a Mexican port, probably Acapulco, is that she cannot stay there. Under the practices of the international law, the Mexican Government could not refuse to protect her but she could not remain in port more than 24 hours, as to do so would subject her to the charge of using the port as a base of operations against a friendly government. So, if the vessel reaches Acapulco before the Charleston the latter vessel would have simply to wait outside the port for 24 hours to get an opportunity to retake the Itata and her stores, providing they have not, in the meantime been transferred to the Esmeralda.

After the Halcyon.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—A Chronicle, San Diego special says: "Upon receipt of a dispatch from San Francisco last night that the steamer Australia had arrived with information that the schooner yacht Halcyon was some where off the coast with a cargo of $1,000,000 worth of contraband opium on board, and that she would probably attempt a landing at some place on the California coast, a party of men under the leadership of A. Johnson and R. Sider was made up, and this morning left port in the schooner yacht Fear-not with two weeks' provision on board for the purpose of overtaking and, if possible, capturing the contraband vessel. The crew of the Fear-not are armed to the teeth, and with the idea of getting the standing reward offered by the Government for the capture of such smugglers, will use every endeavor to bring the Halcyon back with them."

An Improbable Rumor.

Special to the Journal.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 13.—The Anglo-American publishes a rumor of the sinking of the Itata by the U. S. cruiser Charleston, but gives neither time nor place. The authorities here say they have no information whatever concerning the matter.

1901 Kentucky Derby.

Special to the Journal.

LOUISVILLE, May 13.—Nearly 40,000 people witnessed the Kentucky derby today, which was flat and uninteresting. The starters were Hart Wallace, Balgowan, Kingman, Easton, High Tariff and Post-scout. Kingman was great favorite, and Balgowan second choice. The horses were given the flag at the first attempt. The pace was set with High Tariff making the running with Balgowan at his saddle girths and Kingman and Hart Wallace well up. The pace was slow, and at the half the positions were unchanged. They passed the stand in the same order, but on the back stretch Wallace and High Tariff joined strides with Balgowan at his same old place. The pace quickened as the mile was finished. A furlong from the post Kingman was on even terms with Balgowan, the rest bent back. The struggle was brief, and another kink of Murphy's line went out, the whip descended, and the colt's response was a burst of speed that shook the hard whipped and hard ridden Balgowan off and sent him in the winner of the derby by an open length. Balgowan was second, a length from High Tariff, with Hart Wallace a half a length to the rear. Time, 2:52 1/4.

A Miner Shot and Instantly Killed.

Special to the Journal.

KEELER, Cal., May 13.—Mat Anderson, employed as a cook at the W. C. P. mine, six miles north of here, was shot and almost instantly killed by John Lynch last night. The men have quarreled several times within the past ten days about work. Last night Anderson asked for his time check, and a dispute arose between them regarding one day's work. After quarreling Anderson threatened Lynch with an axe, whereupon the latter shot him in the abdomen, from the effects of which he died within ten minutes. Lynch surrendered to the men at the mine and was brought to Keeler. Lynch came here recently from Colorado and has been engaged in prospecting. Anderson was a Norwegian about 45 years of age, and leaves a family of two children now living in San Francisco. He bore the reputation of being a peaceable citizen.

Editor Dixon Sentenced.

Special to the Journal.

SUSANVILLE, Cal., May 13.—Counsel for Elery Dixon, editor of the Lassen Advocate, who had a lengthy trial on the charge of stealing horses, which he took to Oregon to sell, applied for a new trial on the ground of discovery of new evidence and misconduct of the jury. The Court, however, denied the appeal and sentenced him to San Quentin for seven years.

Damage by Floods.

Special to the Journal.

SANTA FE, N. M., May 13.—News from the Upper Rio Grande is to the effect that the bridge above Escondido is unsafe, and as the snow in the Cimbrez and Tuos mountains is melting fast the river will be still higher. Below Albuquerque a good deal of damage is done, and several small villages are swept away by the now mighty flood of the Rio Grande.

It is rumored that Secretary Noble is to resign shortly, and that Carter of Montana, now Commissioner of the General Land Office, will be appointed Secretary of the Interior. Secretary Noble and the President do not agree.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus removing the local symptoms removes the systemic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla— took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced."

A Match at Tuscarora.
An event is on the tapis that promises to enliven sporting circles. Jack Shea, who lately fought Matt Brannan in Carson, will shortly meet in the prize ring Harry Stevens, well known in Reno as an athlete and pugilist. The match is to come off in Tuscarora, where Stevens is at present residing. A prominent young business man of Reno received a telegram announcing the match. Both contestants are hard-fisted young athletes and the contest will be one that the Tuscarorans will roar over if their champion is compelled to seek the continued quietude of his corner, and invest in sponges. Shea is backed by heavy moneyed men in Reno, and the date of the encounter will shortly be announced. The stakes will be a purse of $250 and gate money.

NEVADA AFFAIRS.

What Senator Stewart is Doing at the National Capital.
From our Special Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 7, 1891.
One of the busiest men in Washington to-day is the junior Senator from Nevada, Mr. Stewart. It is very unusual to find him when he is not doing something to keep his active mind and extraordinary physical endurance from lapsing into a comatose state. He is still annoying the gold monometalists and enlightening the people. His correspondence on the money question has had no perceptible falling off since the discussion on the subject in the last Congress. Business men and economic writers of prominence are addressing him on the subject, showing that they consider him one of the leading authorities on the silver side of the great financial problem now agitating the public mind. He wrote a strong article on the silver question a few days ago, which was published in the Post of this city, and he is now engaged in preparing another one on the same subject for the Forum, a monthly magazine of New York, which will appear in the June number. His speeches and articles are in demand and he is constantly circulating them.
ATTENDING TO NEVADA AFFAIRS.
Senator Stewart is attending to various matters concerning his State and constituents before the Departments. He has had nearly daily interviews with the Commissioner of the General Land Office and the Solicitor of the Treasury relative to the compromise of the suit of the Government against the Eureka and Palisade Railroad, of Nevada, for cutting timber on the public domain, and the matter is about to be finally settled. This suit and others of the same nature have been very vexatious to the mining and railroad companies of Eastern Nevada, compelling the shutting down of the largest mines in Eureka and annoying a number of firms engaged in cutting timber.
THE CARSON MINT.
The threatened discontinuance of coinage at the Carson Mint on account of the inability of the Government to purchase enough bullion there to keep it in operation, has occasioned a number of calls on the Director of the Mint. It is unnecessary to dwell on the importance of having the Mint going at full limit. Coinage was renewed at the commencement of Harrison's Administration through the influence and persistency of Senator Stewart, and he is now doing his utmost to prevent its being turned into an assay office again, thereby causing a heavy discharge at the Mint.
WALKER LAKE RESERVATION.
The Nevada Legislature passed a resolution requesting their representatives in Congress to use their influence in having a portion of the Walker Lake Indian Reservation thrown open to settlement. Senator Stewart is interesting himself in having this done.
THE INDIAN SCHOOL.
The Indian school at Carson is in trouble. Superintendent Gibson finds himself compelled to close the school on account of lack of available appropriations. The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has been appealed to to use money out of the general fund in order to keep the institution running until the first of July. In case that is not done, the school will be closed, the crops already sown will necessarily go to ruin for want of attention, and the pupils will be turned out to shift for themselves, and the progress of the institution, which has been remarkable under the efficient management of Mr. Gibson, retarded for an indefinite time, to the permanent injury of the institution. Senator Stewart, as we all know, is highly interested in the success of the Indian school, and if it is closed it will not be because he is not now making strenuous efforts to secure available funds to keep it in existence.
MAIL FACILITIES.
The people in Southwestern Nevada are suffering from lack of proper and adequate mail service, and it is hard to make the Postal officials here see under what great disadvantages the people of that section are laboring. They claim that the cost of the service is so large and the receipts so meagre that the Department does not feel justified in granting the service. Senator Stewart is giving this matter his special attention and hopes to secure for the people of Southwestern Nevada the mail service they ought to have.
WORKING FOR NEVADA.
There are a number of other matters in which the State is interested after which he is looking. He is working as hard now as he did when Congress was in session.
His constituents certainly have no reason to complain of him, either because he does not look after their interests or that he is still in Washington, for wherever he is, the welfare of his State is his first concern.
For Over Fifty Years
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children while teething. If disturbed at night and broken of their rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth, send at once and get a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for children teething. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures Diarrhoea, regulates the Stomach, and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the Gums, reduces Inflammation, and gives Tone and Energy to the whole system. "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

RESTOCKING THE RANGES
Cattle Being Shipped in From California
The unprecedented drought of 1889, followed by the severe winter of 1889-90, left the Nevada ranges almost destitute of live stock. Thousands of cattle and sheep perished, not because of the severity of the winter, but for the reason that there was no feed, not even green sagebrush, on the great plains of Central and Northern Nevada, on which cattle and sheep found good pasturage in winter, when the snow furnished them water, because they were not grazed in summer on account of the scarcity of water. Last season stock was scarce on the range, though feed was abundant, and this year the same conditions exist. Stockmen, however, have concluded that it is unprofitable to pay taxes on land that they own and do not utilize, and that it does not benefit the State nor individuals to let grass grow and wither on the public domain, so they are restocking the range. Miller & Lux are shipping 2,000 head of stock cattle to their Flute Meadows range, Henry Folgham is taking over a thousand head to Northern Humboldt, R. E. Moore has purchased 600 head for his ranch on the Owyhee, George D. Bliss will ship as many more to Jackson Creek, and William Dauphy will put several thousand head on his Beowawe and Maggie Creek ranches. Some of these bands of cattle are being shipped by rail to Central Nevada, and more are being driven across the mountains. The Dauphy cattle, which are from Arizona and New Mexico, are being driven by way of Owens river across the mountains, and the Moore cattle will be driven by way of Honey Lake Valley and Quinn river to Northern Elko.
In a few years there will be cattle and sheep enough for the range, but stockmen will not forget the lesson taught them in 1889-90, and will take good care not to overstock the range, and see that they have hay enough to winter what stock they keep. Meat is bound to be high, as the range is becoming more restricted every year, and cattle are getting too valuable to permit them to perish.
A man who has practiced medicine for 40 years, ought to know salt from sugar; read what he says:
TOLEDO, O., Jan. 10, 1887.
Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have been in the general practice of medicine for most 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions. Yours truly,
L. L. GORRUCH, M. D.,
Office, 215 Summit St.
We will give $100 for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally.

A BAD NEWSPAPER MAN.
Sentenced to San Quentin for Horse Stealing.
Ellery Dixon, one of the proprietors of the Lassen Advocate, has been proved by a jury to have distinguished himself more as a horse thief than as an editor. He was arrested as was also his half-brother, Arthur Sylvester, for horse stealing. The Northern Stock Association engaged Hon. Clay Taylor to assist the District Attorney in prosecuting Dixon. The trial occupied 25 days and resulted in a verdict of guilty. It was shown that Dixon would get a band of horses together in Lassen and Modoc counties, drive them to the ranch of his stepfather in Oregon, change the brands and dispose of them. He would then get horses in Oregon and drive them to Lassen county and dispose of them in like manner, making the trips each way count. His counsel moved for a new trial but the Court denied the motion and Dixon was sentenced to seven years in the California State Prison at San Quentin.
The Democrat on Guard.
Special to the Journal.
CITY OF MEXICO, May 13.—The Government has given strict orders to the port authorities on the Pacific Coast to report the appearance of any Chilean, or other warships. It will be difficult to get news as the Government wires have to be relied on altogether. The general opinion here is that the Ista and convoys will double upon the Charleston. The Government has ordered the gunboat Demoran to keep a sharp outlook for vessels. It is rumored here that a private telegram has been received, announcing that a fishing schooner saw two vessels out at sea off the coast at full speed. One was sighted at 10 A. M. and the other at 2 P. M., but so distant the fishermen were not able to distinguish them.

ABRAHAMS BROS. Props.

19 Commercial Row, Reno, Nev.
Branch Store, 109 Main Street,
Walla Walla, Washington.]

Father Rice, the milkman, has dealt in calves from his cradle, but a thoroughbred Renote calf knocked him G llo way west by his antics yesterday morning.
Mr. Rice was pursuing his usual course about 8 o'clock and dreamily thinking when the price of milk would rise, when he was astounded to hear the bleating of a calf behind his milk wagon as he was meandering through the rearways and byways of town. Mr. Rice is both fond and suspicious of calves, and when he heard the blat behind him, he squinted his weather eye backwards and nearly tumbled off the seat of the wagon, for there was a handsome calf, which had escaped from some pasture, trotting after the wagon and trying to get at the milk. The young creature had escaped from its dam, and enticed by the creamy odor of the delivery wagon, which the sawdust aroma of the Truckee river did not neutralize, it kept after the wagon and made itself a traveling advertisement of the thorough purity of the milk.
Mr. Rice was so delighted with this gratuitous advertisement on the part of the calf that he cut a "pigeon wing" and danced an Irish jig and the Highland fling on the sidewalk.

HEXAGONAL POWDER.

WHY AND HOW CANNON POWDER
 IS RAMMED BEFORE IT IS USED.

It is Compressed by Hydraulic Machines Into Convenient Little Prisms-Something About the Press That Does the Work-A Complicated Process.

A large number of persons who visited the scene of the disastrous powder explosion of the Du Pont Powder mills carried away with them, as mementos of the explosion, little six-sided pieces of a black material which they generally supposed to be iron or some soft metal.
 These mementos were six sided, about 1 1/2 inches long, one inch in diameter, and were pierced by a small round hole.
 They appeared to be blank six sided nuts,
 ready to be tapped or threaded to make them available on the bolts of the mill machinery. They appeared to be innocent little things, easy to pilfer and inconvenient to carry, and served nicely as mementos of the great explosion.
 In reality these innocent looking mementos are lumps of concentrated explosive energy. They are prisms or lumps of prismatic powder. The name is doubtless owing to the peculiar shape given to each piece or block, which is that of a short hexagonal prism. This form is the result of intense pressure to which the powder is exposed in its passage through a powerful hydraulic press.
 It was chosen for the same reason that the honey bee chooses to make the cells
 in its comb hexagonal-economy of space.
 In building cartridges for big guns out of this powder the pieces fit snugly together.

The compression has put every possible ounce of force into the prism, the small size of the prisms enable the gunners accurately to measure the force of each charge, and the hexagons pack together without loss of space in the load chamber of the gun. In the manufacture of this powder science has learned to ram the charge of powder before putting it into the gun barrel.

THE MACHINE.
 The concentration of power by means of the hydraulic press is so great that solid prisms of this powder loaded into a gun would probably burst it, and if not would be wasted by ejection from the gun before it was all burned. The round hole in the prisms of powder, which makes them a complete duplicate of a blank six sided iron nut, is to secure expansion equally in all directions, and to insure the combustion of all the explosive.
 The machines by which these prisms
 of concentrated power are manufactured are models of compact, strong and accurate working machinery. One of them stands about eighteen feet high, and will weigh about 50,000 pounds. It occupies a floor space 4 feet 4 inches by 8 feet 4 inches, is capable of exerting a pressure of 135,000 pounds on a surface of about fifty-four square inches in area, and will make fifty-four prisms of powder at every stroke of its pistons.

The most apparent feature of this press
 is its weight and strength, and its surprising characteristic is ease of movement and control. It is composed of two water cylinders and two rams, connected by four polished iron rods about four and a half inches in diameter, standing on a rectangular foundation. The cylinders and rams are at opposite ends of these rods. The rams work toward each other centrally with the rods.

Between the rams are four cast iron plates six inches thick, 3 feet 2 inches by 4 feet 6 inches in area, three of which move with the ram and one is stationary. This stationary plate is perforated with fifty-four round holes, about two inches in diameter, that have been partially filled with brass bushings. Through these bushings are the six sided holes in which the powder is compressed.

Working directly over this plate is a similar one attached to the ram of the upper cylinder, and guided by the four polished iron rods which fit into a half round recess at each of its corners. It is armed with six sided brass plungers, which in its descent pass into the six sided holes in the stationary plate. Below the stationary plate is another plunger plate similar to the upper one, and below this is the needle plate. The needle plate is armed on its upper surface with fifty-four long steel needles, which extend up through the lower plunger plate and into the hexagon holes in the stationary plate. These needles make the round holes in the prisms of powder.

The power of these presses is generated in the cylinders simply by pumping water into them and behind the rams.
 The cylinders are 11, 12 and 13 inches in diameter. The upper one has two compartments-the ram filling the lower one,
 and above it is a cylinder with a lifting piston by which the ram is raised after its downward stroke in compressing the powder. The lower ram is raised by pumping water under it, and is lowered by letting the water out, which will be accomplished automatically.

In operation the parts of this press are so adjusted that the plungers of the upper and lower plunger plates and the needles approach each other through the movement of the rams. The holes in the stationary plate are stopped on the lower side by the ends of the plungers, and the needles entering through the plungers extend up through the stationary plate. The hexagon holes are then filled with wet powder and the rams brought together, exerting a pressure of 2,500 pounds on the powder in each of the holes, compressing into a solid hexagonal prism 1 1/2 inches long, one inch in diameter, with a hole of about 1/4 inch in diameter through it longitudinally.-

If you wish to hear a fly walk, you can do it without the aid of the naphophone.
 Having made friends with the fly, spread a silk handkerchief over your ear and induce the insect to crawl across the handkerchief. As he approaches your ear you will distinctly hear a harsh, rasping sound, made by the contact of the insect's feet with the filaments of silk.
